

On the Death of Member Ursula Schröder

16.11.2009

For the first time in many years, Ursula Schröder did not show up for the institute's members meeting. This came as a surprise to us. On November 6th she died at the age of 93.

Peace, in all its facets, quite literally consumed her life. We will miss her contributions, ideas, and critique. We are thankful for the example she lived, her role as our patroness, and the enthusiasm with which she supported the growth and development of this institution.

From the director and board of the Institute for Peace Education Tübingen